REPORT

“Better than a thousand days of diligent study is one day with a great teacher.”

— Japanese proverb

In order to provide global exposure to the students, MIT-WPU School of Commerce has organized "Global Rendezvous - the Webinar series" a series of online sessions by international academicians from various universities across the globe.

The series was inaugurated at the hands of Hon VC Prof. N.T. Rao on Tuesday 8th September, 2020 at 5 pm. The speaker for the first session was Dr. Marc Moser, Professor and International Visiting faculty from Switzerland.

The session began with Dr. Anjali Sane, Associate Dean, Faculty of Commerce, giving the welcome address and the opening remarks about Global Rendezvous. She introduced the series as a global platform for students to hear from renowned academicians from across the globe.

In his augural address, Hon. VC sir appreciated the efforts of School of Commerce and encouraged the students to take maximum advantage of the event. He reemphasized the need for providing global exposure, especially in today's competitive era.

Dr. Marc Moser was the 1st speaker of the Series and he addressed the students on “Organizational Behaviour - Perception, Individual and Collective Decision-Making Processes”. Dr. Marc explained the changing corporate scenario and the importance of work ethics, concept of perception, factors influencing perception and the link between perception and decision making. He also discussed the common errors and biases related to perception and decision making. Dr. Marc also discussed the importance of creativity.

The interactive session was followed by question and answer session.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Pro VC Dr. R.M. Chitnis. He thanked Dr. Marc for an excellent session and hoped for long term association between the two universities. Dr. Chitnis also encouraged the young audience to join for all further sessions of the Global Rendezvous series.
